FACTS MUST DECIDE

HOURS FOR WOMEN'S WORK IN FACTORIES

Industrial Commission Must Determine Effect Upon Health, Safety and Welfare of Workers.

In a decision denying the petition of eight large Milwaukee candy manufacturers for permission to employ women more than ten hours a day during the three month rush season preceding Christmas, the Industrial Commission has rendered its decision following statements regarding its findings and the powers and duties of the United States supreme court decision bearing upon the labor of women in industry.

"The only power delegated to the industrial commission is to find the facts as to the effect upon the health, safety and welfare of women workers under given conditions. The facts so found must determine the number of hours that such workers may be permitted to labor. But the commission has said explicitly that until the industrial commission finds the facts to the contrary, employment shall be deemed to be dangerous to women who work ten hours a day, or fifteen hours a week.

"We do not believe that the legislature in committing this great power to us, thought for a moment that we would turn back the clock of progress in humane legislation. What the legislature thought, we have no desire to do so.

"In the skilled trades, ten-hour days are now the exception rather than the rule. Shall not the state demand for female labor conditions as favorable as the male workers demand and obtain for himself?

"It has long been recognized that women, because of physical conditions, because of inability to demand their rights, because the welfare of the race is dependent upon them, should receive the protection of the state. The decision quotes the following from the supreme court of the United States:

"As healthy mothers are essential to vigorous offspring, the physical well-being of women becomes an object of public interest and care in order to preserve the strength and vigor of the race. * * * The two sexes differ in structure of body, in functions to be performed by each, in the capacity for long continued labor, particularly, the influence of vigorous health upon the future well-being of the race, the self-reliance which enables one to assert full rights, and in the capacity to maintain the struggle for subsistence. This difference justifies a difference in legislation and upholds that which is designed to compensate for some of the burdens which rest upon her."

The decision which contains generous excerpts from international authorities, says:

"Considering this matter we see little reason for making an extensive investigation. We have the facts as to the conditions of the employment, and the literature of the day is replete with the judgment of the greatest experts in physiology and psychology. We cannot ignore these authorities; for to do so would be to close our eyes to matters of common knowledge and the best evidence."

"We realize that wages and other labor conditions are to some extent dependent upon economic conditions and when the manufactured article enters into interstate commerce as it does in the present case, competent conditions in other states may be considered by the legislature. But such conditions are not controlling with a legislature, and they have not been committed to our consideration in other states."

Here the decision contains a table showing that there are limitations on female employment in practically all manufacturing states, similar to, or more strict than, those of Wisconsin. The decision continues:

"Practically all the civilized nations of the world are regulating by law the hours of labor of women in industry. To illustrate: France limits the hours to ten with one full hour for rest; Germany limits the hours to ten and eight on Saturday and the day before holidays. One full hour for dinner must be allowed.

"Wisconsin is not far behind, nor is progressive in her laws that backward in her industries. If comparisons were not odious, it would be easy to show the reverse. Especially is this true in the matter of laws affecting child and female labor. However, in the confectionery business, it seems Wisconsin is not up to the average of other states where this industry is important. The labor department of the United States government has recently published the results of an investigation made by it from a comparative table in this report it will be seen that Wisconsin confectioneries employ a larger percentage of girls under eighteen years of age than other states studied, except Maryland, and under twenty, a greater proportion than any other state."

"As to the wages paid, another table shows that the proportion of employers who receive less than $5 per week in Wisconsin exceeds any state except Maryland; less than $6 per week, a greater percentage than any other state; less than $8 per week, greater than any other state; more than $10 per week, less than any other state except Pennsylvania."

BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT THROUGH FOOT BY RIFLE

Ray Hubert, the fifteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hubert, 428 Milton avenue, was accidentally shot through two toes on one foot last Sunday afternoon by a rifle in the hands of his companion, "Bun" McLaughlin. The accident occurred while the boys were on their way home from a hunting trip up the hillside. The ejector on the rifle, a 22-caliber Remington-Union, had worked badly and the boys thought it had removed all the shells. Young McLaughlin pulled the trigger, not knowing there was a cartridge remaining in the gun and the bullet passed through the smallest toe and the next one in Hubert's foot, coming out through the sole. He was removed to his home and given medical care. Some infection has set in but it is hoped that it will have no serious consequences.

The net revenue, outside operations, was $174,748.06, making the total net revenue $31,374,835.10. Taxes were $4,323,832.52, leaving the operating income $27,051,002.58. The net corporate income was $18,140,744.35.

At the close of the fiscal year the bonded debt was $268,267.65.

Work on the construction of automatic block signals and elimination of grade crossings is rapidly nearing completion.

Elevation of tracks in Milwaukee is in progress at an estimated cost of $2,000,000. When completed fourteen grade crossings will have been eliminated. Elevation of tracks is also under way in Bloomington and Chicago. This work is also estimated at $2,000,000 and will, when completed, have eliminated 35 grade crossings. The tracks in Minneapolis are being depressed.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE

PARENTAL PARTIALITY.

Heartaches and discord often are caused in family life because of the partiality of the parents.

Nor does it help matters that the partiality is apparently unconscious. Father and mother, who should be very careful to treat the children alike, especially in money matters, often are guilty of gross discrimination.

Item:
I know a family where all the children save one have had a chance. The boys have been educated and started in life. The daughter has remained on the farm homestead to care for the parents. She is forty years of age and has received for her services nothing but her board and clothes, and the clothes have not been of an extravagant sort.

Why has she been slighted?

I know another family where there are two sons. One boy has been sent to college and furnished money for travel, while the other brother has devoted his life to the father's jobbing business on a small salary.

Is that fair?

In another instance the oldest son has been established as manager of the farm. He is married and lives with the old folks. He runs the farm in such a way that most of the profits go into his pocket. Meantime two other brothers work in the city as common laborers.

It is a cruel discrimination.

Because in this instance, as in the others, the member of the family who is in least need of assistance gets the most. The "smartest" boy or the handsomest girl gets the preferred opportunity.

Whereas—

It would seem parental sympathy should go to the lame duck of the family flock.

Query:
If you give John a start in business and deny Jim a chance, do you think Jim will feel good toward John or toward you?

Or—

If you give Mary tailor made gowns and make Martha put up with calico, do you fancy Martha will think as much of you as she ought to?

Why not "tote fair" with the children?

Medium's Fraud Exposed.

At a spiritualist seance at Osuna, Spain, a parrot, which had been trained to imitate the voice of a nun, long dead, and which had been hidden behind voluminous draperies, fluttered down on the table. The medium was mobbed by the company and seriously injured.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams

BY WALT MASON

The cost of living is so great we all lament together; we therefore should appreciate that there's free weather. This is a blessing sweet and rare, and all our birds should rhyme it; the poorest man may have his share, free gratis, of the climate. He basks in weather rich and ripe—what luxury is sweeter? No trust can pump it through a pipe, or run it through a meter. And yet, alas, this precious boon we do not rightly cherish; in March, December, August, June, we're using words night-mare, blinding every thing that's sent, the rain, the drought, the blizzard; we voice all kinds of discontent, from A clear through to Z-z-zard. We ought to cry "Ingrateful self!" when down our whiskers trickle the large and briny drops of sweat. "It doesn't cost a nickel!" We ought to cry when comes the sleet, when raging floods are frothing, when we are frozen ears and feet: "We're getting this for nothing!" So let us strive to mend our ways and show we're long in merit; and if they ship us heavenly days, why, we'll just grin and bear it.

FREE WEATHER

Asked to express his idea of human misery, an old colored citizen said: "De rent due, an' no man ter move you; de groceries out, an' yo' appetite at de same ol' stand; 15 po' relations ter spend de holidays wid you, an' a preacher ter tell you you gwine ter sattan ef you don't mend yo' ways."—Atlanta Constitution.

MRS. WORRY. WHAT'S WORSE THAN A FLY? ANSWER—A SWATTER

SPORT Snap-Shots

Willie Ritchie has declared for some time that when he quits the ring he will have enough of a bank roll saved up to make life thereafter a long eternity of affluence and a sojourn in the lap of luxury. And Willie is doing real good at carrying his them south on the coming spring training trip. Quite a bevy of ball tossers was drafted from the International league, some of which follow: Truesdale and Rouch of Banor; Priest of Rochester; Herrick, Midway, Daniels, Egan and Cottrell of Baltimore; Swannick, Enxmann and Higgins of Newark; Fitzpatrick of Toronto; Wells of Jersey City; Onslow of Providence, and Almeida of Montreal.

Ed Delehanty, according to "King" Larry Lajoie, was the greatest ball man of all time, although Lajoie himself is thought by many to have been the best. But Lajoie, in telling of the craft of Delehanty, relates a yarn that sounds good, anyway. And it makes Mr. Delehanty out to be some hitter. All right, let's have it. "Some years ago," says Larry, "in the old days of the twelve-club National league, there was a young third baseman with Washington, named Flaherty. And he was very much annoyed because Delehanty continually beat out bunts along the third base line. And so he came to me and asked me why he couldn't make more put-outs on Delehanty. He said he knew he was fast enough and had the whip all right, but somehow he didn't seem able to get Delehanty on his bunts. And I told him he was playing too deep and should move up with the pitcher's arm when he saw Del. was going to bunt. A month or so later we played Washington again. In the sixth inning Delehanty came up with two men on and went out. And Flaherty begins slipping up toward the plate to handle a bunt. Maybe Delehanty didn't notice it at all. But I know he took an awful swing on the ball and sent it down the third base line like a shot. It hit the kid Flaherty on the knee-cap and bounced clear over into right field and they had to carry Flaherty away on a stretcher. He never paid any attention to my advice at all after that."

plans thus far. "Even at the age of twenty-two," says Willie, "a man hasn't many years ahead of him at this strenuous game and I must gather in the sheaves while I may." Which indeed it seems that he intends to do. He called the Welsh fight off after he had been guaranteed $16,000 and half of the picture money because the promoters were holding out $400 on him. It's a hot tip from the stable boy's brother that Willie Ritchie will be the Jawn D. of pugilistic-dom.

The meeting of major league club owners and managers at Cincinnati, Monday, for the annual drafting season, provided considerable interest for the baseball public, especially in the large number of drafts that were made. It is reported that some of the clubs filed drafts for as many as twenty minor leaguers. Connie Mack was there to cop out promising minor league talent, although at present it is not known what selections he made. It may well be supposed, however, that Connie grabbed some very likely youngsters who will strengthen his outfit in the seasons to come. He is very anxious to gather as many pitching recruits as possible and send September 16, 1913.—The barometric depression that has caused rain in the lower Mississippi Valley and West Gulf States for the past week has now advanced northward and now occupies the central states. It is attended by widespread rains and cloudiness. It will probably pass away to the eastward, and be followed in this vicinity by fair and cooler weather Wednesday. The rains attending it were heavy in the lower Mississippi Valley, 1.80 inches being recorded at Memphis, and 1.20 at Montgomery, and in the Northwest 3.50 being reported at Rapid City, S. D., and at Miles City, Montana, and 3.88 at Sheridan, Wyo.

It is colder in the Northern Rockies, a minimum of 28° being recorded at Yellowstone Park this morning.

Those Aggrieved.
Mr. Gladstone once denounced certain members of the Opposition as "a lot of trucking attorneys," a phrase which caused some indignation. On the following day he said: "I recently described some members as 'truckling attorneys.' I now wish to apologize—some applause from the aggrieved parties interrupted him—"I now wish to apologize—to the attorneys."

Cricket of English Birth.
Cricket is the national game of Englishmen, and seems always to have been played in Britain. The first mention of it is found in a manuscript of the thirteenth century. The name comes from the Saxon "eric" or "eryc," a crooked stick—an obvious reference to the bat with which it is played. Wherever the English have colonized the game is played, and in many of the British possessions it has become popular with the natives, notably in New Zealand.

The Buick a Fiend For Power

No matter what its price, a BUICK car must and will give the maximum of that service for which it was intended, and must bear its proportion of the responsibility of maintaining that high prestige which BUICK cars have attained. THE 1914 BUICKS. No line of Motor Cars at any price can show more value than will be found in the BUICK for 1914. Every time tried feature is retained and such new ones as have demonstrated their worth have been added. THE FAMOUS OVERHEAD VALVE MOTOR will continue to demonstrate itself as the greatest power producer ever used in an automobile. The same economy of fuel consumption, same durability and consistent service coupled with the old recognized go-ability insures the same reliable BUICKS. THE DELCO SYSTEM FOR STARTING, LIGHTING and IGNITION is recognized as the very best apparatus of its kind and its installation in every model proves our contention that nothing is too good for the BUICK. All equipment will be in keeping with that standard and permits the assertions that more than ever will the past leadership of BUICK cars be maintained and strengthened for 1914. MODELS B24 and B25—The wonderful motor that has been such a consistent performer for years is still used in these models and every detail that has become such a part of it remains unchanged. Small refinements have been made and such additions as might enhance its efficiency. The Roadster (24) is a beautiful job with deep, roomy seat, lots of leg room and a general air of comfort about it. The Touring Car (B25) is large and roomy, with wide seats, beautifully trimmed and refined in every single line and detail.

THE ROADS.

Rock county has been termed a pioneer in the work of rebuilding the country roads. The county board at its session yesterday appropriated twenty thousand dollars additional monies from the county treasury so that it might obtain an additional ten thousand from the state for this work. Good roads are an asset to any community. The quicker this is realized the better for the community. Superintendent of Highways

Moore has done excellent work during the past year and the work is not yet completed. Road building in Wisconsin is still in its infancy compared with the results of other states in past years. The residents of the Atlantic coast early saw the necessity of roads into the wilderness of cies and every cross roads village has its aspiring political leader who discusses wisely the chances of this or that candidate. Wisconsin has long been commission-ridden. It has long been politically ridden by petty bosses and now it is even worse than ever. While the campaign, the actual campaign, is still months away, the scheming politicians are already laying their wire for political preferment and the past week in Milwaukee saw many lightning rods raised in hopes the nomination thunderbolt might strike their particular shaft. Eternal politics is heard everywhere and its pernicious influence is cropping to the surface in every locality.

Well, after all our solicitude, here is our old friend, Dr. Wiley, again. He arises to announce that Eve was created before Adam. Let the procession move on.

If Mrs. Parkhurst wishes to add eclat to her American tour by giving exhibitions of window smashing, the necessary stage properties will gladly be provided.

Another tally for women's rights. A Washington police judge has decided that a man can not wear his wife's false teeth, even if he did pay for them.

A Chicago policewoman arrested a young man for trying to flirt with her. The magistrate took one look at her and discharged him. You are welcome to either of the two possible reasons.

Ida M. Tarbell contemplates taking up aviation. Undoubtedly the Standard Oil company is ready to provide her with all the gasoline she wants, gratis.

A London burglar broke into a house to take a bath. Stealing an Englishman's bath is about the worst crime that can be perpetrated upon him.

Why didn't Harry Thaw go to South Carolina and kill a colored man? Then Governor Bleasoe would have given him an unconditional pardon.

The California woman who broke her hip while tangoing in a tight skirt promises to tango again, but says nothing as to a skirt.

The city of Coaticook is again enabled to devote its entire attention to the weather and the work of the new barn the mayor is building.

It is to be presumed that the government order forbidding the shipment of deadly weapons into Mexico includes the motorcycle.

The governor of Connecticut wants the state to pay all campaign expenses. And all the campaign cigars come from Connecticut.

Governor Sulzer's trouble has now been duly diagnosed by the courts as total loss of gubernatorial power, but not necessarily chronic.

Washington, D. C., is about to move ninety-two buildings to clear two blocks of land. And this in a city built on purpose!

Secretary McAdoo holds that refusal to resign is conduct unbecoming a collector of customs and calling for dismissal.

"Holidays often lead to extravagance," says Mr. Rockefeller. Too true. But what good would a holiday be otherwise?

Why not have prayers for those who go up in the air in ships as well as for those who go down to the sea in them?

A Delaware woman aged seventy has eloped. But perhaps that was the only way she could get out of the state.

Another comet has been discovered, heading this way. But, having survived Halley's comet, who cares?

That currency bill seems to be as persistent as the kind the collector carries about with him.

Judging from the preparations he is making, Mr. Bryan intends to have an elaborate old age.

Apparently New York is less afraid of vile politics than it is of vile plays.

THE CLOTHES PRESS.

The Test.

The test of this diaphanous goods will come when some woman catches a mere man sporting a pair of trousers manufactured of the same.—La Crosse Tribune.

They Know in Oshkosh.

The Milwaukee Free Press notes that the latest excuse for the narrow skirt is that "it keeps a girl from hurrying too fast." And at that it may not prevent her from being a trifle fast.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

Superior Wisdom.

Socialist leaders in Germany contemplate starting a fashion magazine for the common people in order to stop the inclination to try to follow the absurd styles of the butterflies of high fashion. It would not prove popular. No women, and only a few men, are sufficiently "class conscious."—Superior Telegram.

Wails From Brodhead.

Backward, turn backward, oh time in your flight; give us a girl whose skirts are not tight; give us a girl whose charms, no charms, no charms, are not exposed by too much peek-a-boo; give us a girl, no matter what age, who won't use the streets as a vaudeville stage; give us a girl not too sharply in view, and dress her in skirts that the sun can't shine through.—Brodhead Independent-Register.

The Diary of a Bonehead.

It was a very punk dollar that someone, someone, handed me sometime this morning. I think it was made of rabbit metal or second-hand solder. At any rate when I tried to hand it to the waiter to pay for my lunch he handed it back and asked me if he looked like a Mexican. "When I go home in the six o'clock train," said I to myself, "I'll be so busy he won't notice it."

When I got on the car I handed the conductor the punk dollar and assumed an expression like that of a Baptist missionary just home from a long stay in Zambesi.

The conductor was in a hurry, just as I had anticipated. He counted out the punk dollar and I crummed it into my pocket with great ceremony.

I got off the car at my corner and went into the drug store and bought a dime and a nickel.

"You'll have to come again," he said. "I can't support a wife and family on that kind of hardware. The dime and nickel are both bad."

"I beg your pardon," I said, and dug up a quarter.

"No good," he said. "Somebody has been using it for a watch chain."

"Then I tried the half dollar," he said. "I had so much lead in it that I don't believe it could be redeemed for seven cents at the mint."

Word: Trust car conductors get up early in the morning.

Helpful Household Hints.

How to Sponge a Broadcloth Skirt.—Become friendly with some woman who will tell you gently that you would like to have her give it to you.

How to Remove Superfluous Hair from the Face.—Tie a stout cord to the end of the hair which you wish to remove and go to the top of the house. Posten the other end of the cord firmly to the chimney and jump off. This operation can be repeated until all of the superfluous hairs have been removed. The same hairs will never return.

How to Have a Red Shirt Gored.—Hang it up on a clothes line directly in front of an indignant bull.

Cooking School Biscuits.—Dang-ter's cooking school biscuits may be made useful as well as ornamental in various ways. They may be used for door knobs when the old ones fall off, and with little effort they may be chiseled at the village tombstone works in attractive designs. A coal-burner of these biscuits has been known to keep a night in a base-burning stove as well as an equal amount of anthracite. They may also be used as billiard balls if properly rounded.

His Job.

Oh, where is Fitzhugh Cecil Gray, A 1913 graduate, Who read upon commencement day A thesis that was simply great?

He told about success in life, And how to win it right offhand. He solved financial problems grave, And whooped it up to beat the band. He juggled mighty fortunes in The paper that he read that night. He labeled "Poverty a Sin" And set the whole blamed world aright.

You ask where Fitzhugh is right now. He's holding down a job that's swell. He's waiting table, so they say. For beans in some resort hotel.

The Best Swiss Cheese.

In a local cafe a stranger ordered a Swiss cheese sandwich, made of the best cheese obtainable. The waiter brought him two pieces of bread, but the cheese appeared to be missing.

"Look here, sir," said the customer, "there is no cheese in this sandwich."

"Oh, yes, there is," was the reply. "You see, the best Swiss cheese is the one with the largest holes in it. You said you wanted the very best and you have it. In fact, this particular cheese was entirely hole. But some customers are never satisfied."

PARIS

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Paris is not the largest city in the world but it is the most contented. A Parisian would not live anywhere else on earth and when he dies he does so with grave doubts. He hopes that some other Parisian has gone to heaven in the past and has made it over into a suitable place of residence, but the evidences are against it. Paris is the capital of France, fashion, gaiety, the cabaret business, fancy cooking and the tourist trade. It has 2,700,000 people who weep every day to think of the 1,500,000,000 human beings who have to live elsewhere. Paris is 1800 years old, but got its great start in business in 1870, when it cleaned out some of its old quarters and built a few straight streets with trees on them. All Europe flocked to see the wonderful sight, and Paris got advertised so extensively that no tourist now considers his work finished until he has inhaled gasoline vapors on the Champs Elysees and has eaten supper on the sidewalk of the Avenue de l'Opera. Paris is most famous for its fine old buildings, its weird new coslumes, its art collections, its actresses, its soups and salads, its cosseted men, its duels, its naughty little restaurants, its politeness whenever the tips are large enough and its conversation, which is enchanting to look at. A visitor can soak himself for weeks in art and music in Paris. And if he doesn't care for these he can soak himself in other pleasures at a remarkably reasonable price per bottle. Everyone goes to Paris to see the pictures in the Louvre, but a great many Americans spend weeks hunting for this pretty little art gallery in the Latin quarter and the restaurants of Montmartre and never find it at all. Paris has the highest building in the world, the Eiffel tower, but it is not as high as the cost of living. These two are the only skyscrapers in the city. A man can travel all day in a taxi cab in Paris for $1.25, but if he wants coffee with cream in it, he will have to issue bonds to finance the deal. Parisians are a light hearted, pleasure loving people. They know how to live luxuriously on a little and how to encourage the visitor to live uncomfortably on a lot. Their principal amusements are talking, the theatre, duelling, aeroplaning, and selling things to Americans. Paris is also the Automoblist's Paradise. When he runs over a pedestrian the latter is arrested.

Paris is not growing as fast as New York, nor building so many factories. But she doesn't care. So long as New York turns out a new millionaire every week and ships him to Paris for a trial trip around the shops that city will be content and its bank deposits will continue to grow.

New Fall Apparel For Women

OUR early Fall display of ready-to-wear apparel will naturally be of special interest to women who desire to keep in touch with fashion's trend.

The season's smartest styles are ready for your inspection. For weeks past new things have been coming in daily. Latest fashion developments find their first reflection here.

Your own eyes only can give you a satisfying understanding of the charm of these

Beautiful Fall Suits

The materials are exceptionally beautiful this season, both in texture and color. Included are Wool Eponge, French Broadcloths, Bedford Cords, Wool Jacquard, Melrose Cloth, Diagonal Boucle, Novelty Cheviot, Two-tone striped Worsted Serges, Poplins, Velour de lines, Velvets and Novelties.

The Cutaway style coat will be more popular than ever, but made longer. The average length of the new Suit Coats is about 36 to 42 inches in the back.

Nearly all suits, whether plain tailored or of novelty type, are cut on straight lines and are but slightly, if at all, fitted at the waist line.

The most prominent individual feature in the new suit style is the Cutaway front of the jackets and this idea is developed in many different ways.

THE SKIRTS for the coming season will be short, to conform with the present desire to show the feet. Slashes will be used, though to a lesser degree in the best suits. Drapery in one form or another is a necessary feature of nearly every skirt, the dressier the suit the more prominent the drapery.

STRICTLY TAILORED Suits have plain Skirts, although there may be some gathers at the waist line, which, by the way, is always raised.

Suits From $12 to $50.

The New Fall Coats

Many new and novel features are embodied in the new coat styles for Fall and Winter. One of the most important features of the Separate Coat styles is the lengths. While the present length was introduced last season, it was but slightly favored. The present correct lengths vary from thirty-five to forty-eight inches.

We also show a good assortment of full-length garments which are always practical. VARIETY IS THE KEYNOTE IN COATS THIS SEASON.

It is almost safe to say that every coat for fall has a Cutaway front, so generally is the idea employed. Some models have this strongly accentuated; others are more conservative and the Cutaway is but little more than suggestive.

Draperies of various sorts and other means of adding fullness in the new coats are also prominent features. There are an unusual number of different cloths, principal among which are Boucle, Bedford Cords, Ratine Coating, Velour De Line, Novelty Diagonal, Two Toned Plaids, Fancy Mixtures, etc.

Coats From $5.00 to $50.00

Bessie Lewis. Bessie Lewis, twenty-two, has returned to her home in Grand Rapids, Mich., after having been a virtual prisoner in the Michigan Home for Feeble Minded at Lapeer for seven years. Nine years ago her mother, ill and destitute, consented to have the girl sent to the Girls' Industrial Home at Adrian, Mich. Later the girl was arbitrarily sent to the Home for the Feeble Minded. No one took any interest in her until this summer, when her mother began making efforts to get her out. Grand Rapids physicians became interested in the case, and on examination found that she was perfectly normal mentally. Her release followed.

Engineers' Course of Studies. Engineers are now able to determine with approximate accuracy the height to which a wall may be built capable of resisting any given amount of vibration or swaying. New rules have been applied to the foundations of tall structures, to bridges, etc., and in Japan students of engineering and architecture receive a special course of lectures on earthquake building.
